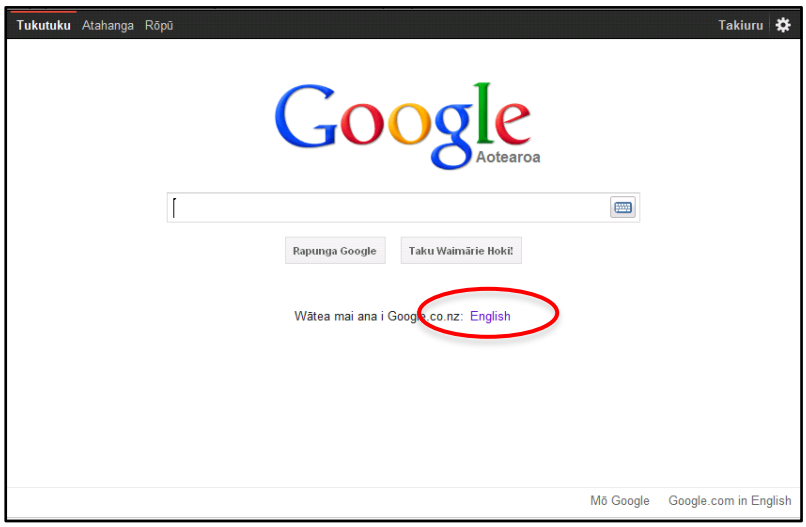
Other applications with Māori interfaces

THE UNIVERSITY OF WAIKATO
Te Whare Wānanga o Waikato

There are other applications and programs available with a Māori interface. For most of these internet resources, the interface is initiated by clicking a link.

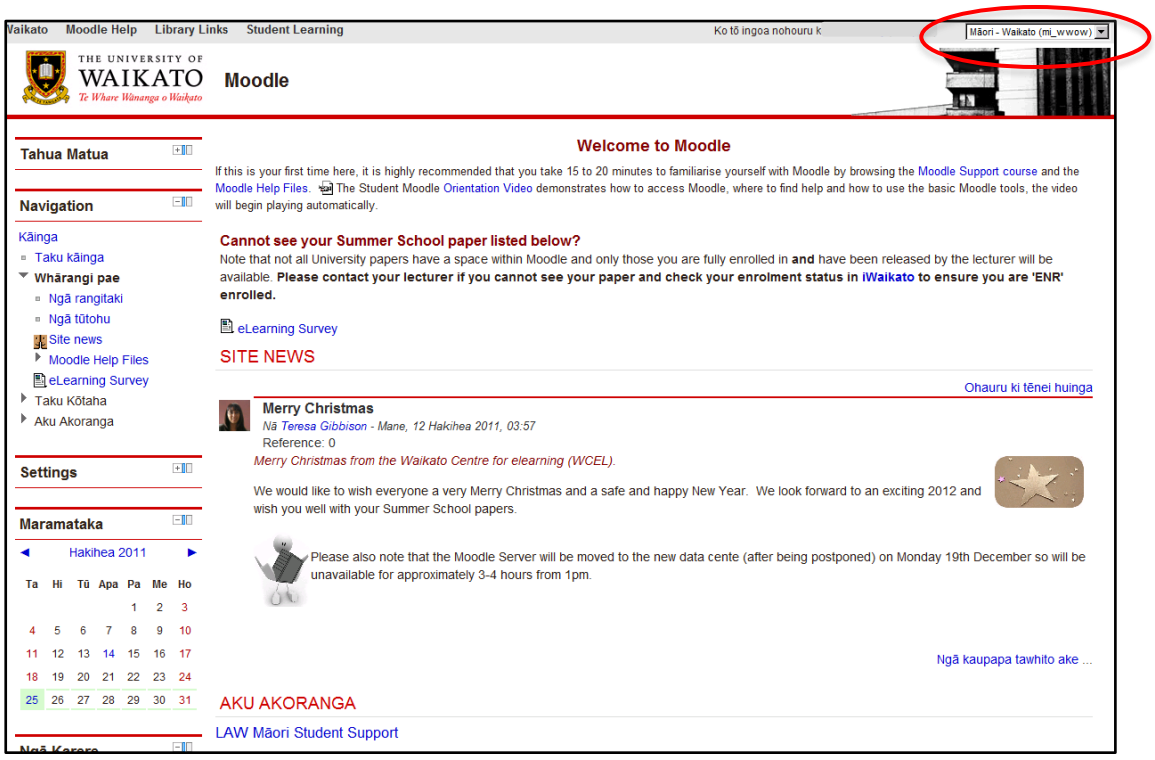
Google



Click the Māori/ English link under the search bar to change the language.

Moodle

A Māori interface can be downloaded for Moodle 2.0. Once it is installed, the language can be changed using the drop down list in the top right-hand corner.



Websites

There are also some website that can be displayed in English or Māori by clicking the appropriate link (as circled below). Some examples are:

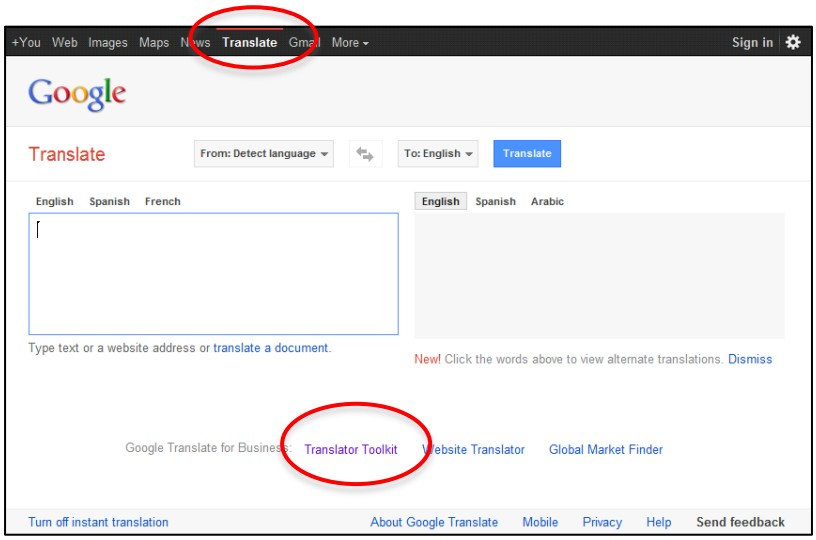
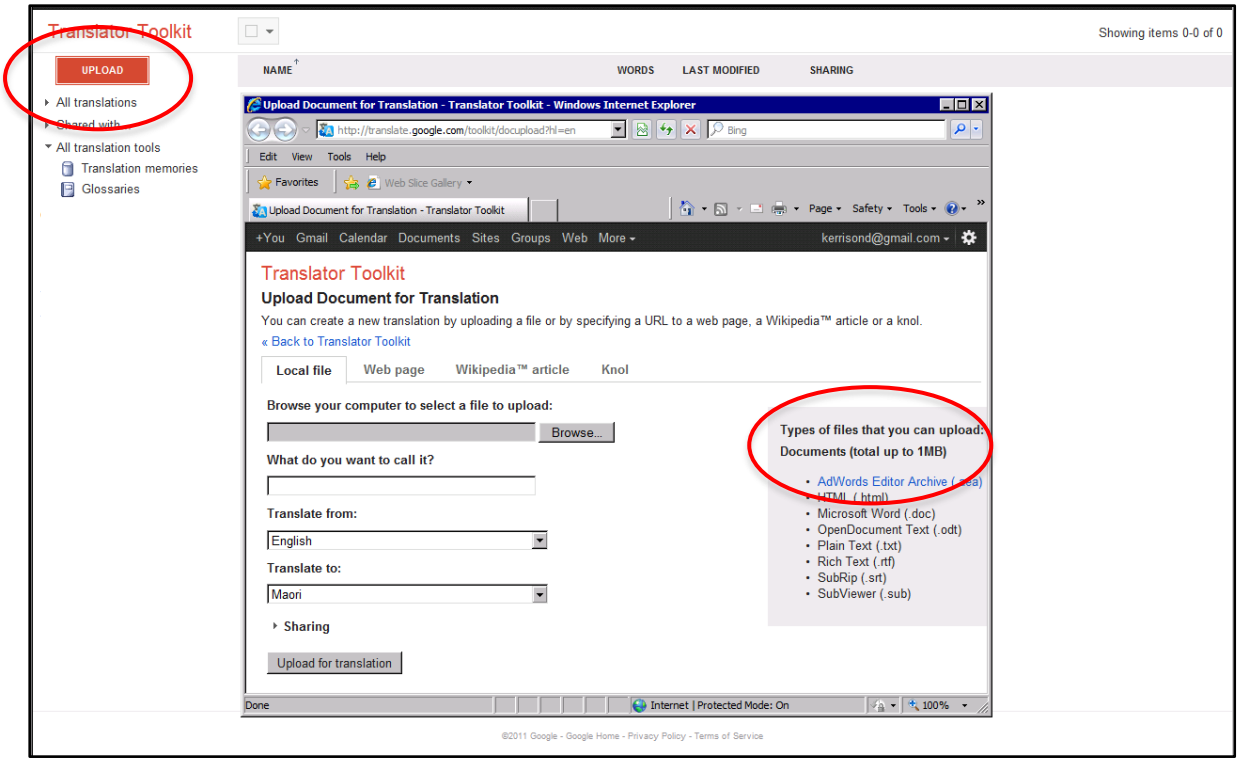
Google Translator Toolkit

This is an online software program that helps translate documents and webpages. It is found by clicking on Translate at the top of the Google homepage. In the new page click on Translator Toolkit at the bottom. You will need a Gmail account to access this.





In the Toolkit page, click the UPLOAD button and a new window will appear. Use the Browse… button to upload a Local file off your computer, or enter a URL for a Web page or a Wikipedia article. Take note of the supported formats on the right. Once you have chosen which languages to translate from and into, upload it and a new page will open with the original on the left and the translated version on the right.
